Port Commission Ready to Open Harbor Oct. 20

Looking forward to opening Port Redwood City to business by October 20, the Redwood City Board of Port Commissioners met Tuesday with Manager Walter F. Murphy to discuss further the purchase of a lumber carrier and adoption of tariffs and rules and regulations.

Although adoption of tariffs and purchase of the carrier was laid over until a special adjourned meeting next Tuesday, when it is hoped Pres. E. B. Hinman, absent last night due to illness, will be present, the commissioners considered these and other matters in detail.

Manager Murphy and Commissioners Henry A. Beeger, Edmund Scott and John E. McCarthy, presiding, agreed that if Redwood City's full share of the Santa Clara valley fruit business is to pass through the new harbor, proper warehouse facilities must be constructed.

Approximately $66,000 in reserve funds is now available for such construction, subject to approval by the city council, which probably first would seek an unofficial expression of public opinion before taking action, according to City Atty. Albert S. Mansfield, present as the board's legal advisor. He declared a postcard poll might be taken to learn the people's reaction.

City Manager C. L. Dimmitt told the commissioners that final work at the harbor is progressing rapidly, with roofers, sheet-metal workers, electricians and installers of the water sprinkler system now completing construction on the transit shed.

If acquisition of the lumber carrier is approved next week, the port will be prepared for the first boat shipment of lumber expected to be brought here in the near future by the Hammond Lumber Company, Manager Murphy said.

Commissioner E. S. Hurrell was also absent.

Power Election To Be Called

A vote on November 2 for Redwood City to decide whether or not to issue $575,000 in general obligation bonds to take over the power distribution system of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company was foreseen today as the result of action of the Redwood City City Council Tuesday night.

All preliminary steps were taken for the election, which will be called officially at a special meeting set for next Monday night.

Although all councilmen agreed on the preparations for the election, a rift in the seven-man board developed over adoption of a statement prepared in advance by Mayor Paul A. McCarthy, long a tireless worker for acquisition of the electric utility.

The statement, which while general asserted that a $75,000 profit from the city was possible with municipal ownership of the utility even after a rate reduction had been effected, met disapproval of Councilmen James M. Eva, Louis Christensen and Evans A. Fletcher, who, after discussion, voted against the adoption of the statement. It was passed, however, with the approval of the four other members of the council—Mayor McCarthy, George W. McNulty, William Hohn and Robert N. Jones. With details of the discussion, it is published in full in an adjoining column.

NOT TO OPPOSE ELECTION

Despite their opposition to the statement, Eva, Christensen and Fletcher said after the meeting that they would not oppose the calling of an election to let the people decide if they wished to purchase the P. G. & E. distributing system, which was recently appraised by the California Railroad Commission.

A two-thirds vote would be necessary to carry the bond issue.

Necessity for taking action immediately on calling the election was emphasized by Mayor McCarthy, who stated that with the handing down of the valuation decision of the commission on August 10, the election must be called within 60 days or the project abandoned.

While the railroad commission valuation was for $188,000, it was as of February 9, 1935—date the utility's properties were inventoried. Since that time, $27,000 worth of improvements have been added to the system, Mayor McCarthy reported City Manager C. L. Dimmitt and City Fireman-Fire Chief Mark E. Ryan had determined.

Upon recommendation of Dimmitt and Ryan, it was decided to call the bond issue for $575,000.

TOTAL SUM ANALYZED

This will allow: $488,000 for original valuation; $27,000 for additions since February 9, 1935; $10,000 for additions to be made between now and the time—estimated at nearly a year—when the system can be finally taken over if the bond issue carries; and $50,000 for changing of circuits, building of a substation, purchasing poles, a truck and other equipment, and providing working capital for a month.

Upon recommendation of Mayor McCarthy and City Atty. Albert Mansfield, the council voted unanimously, with Jones and Hohn making the motion, to employ special counsel in the election proceedings and subsequent preparation of bonds and ruling on their legality so they may be sold. The firm of Orrick, Palmer & Dahlquist will be employed, it was decided.

Should the election fail to gain the necessary two-thirds majority, their fee will be approximately $500 or $600, Mayor McCarthy said he had been informed by them. If the election carries, and they have to prepare the bonds, rule on them and handle other details, the cost is expected to run between $1500 and $2000.

CONDEMNATION SUIT

Reason for the delay in actual acquisition of the system, even though the election carries, will be in the filing of a condemnation suit to take over the P. G. & E. properties, McCarthy explained. The action would be taken in the local superior court.

The bonds to be issued would be a 20-year issue, bearing 3 per cent interest, it is planned. Revenue bonds could not be is-

Tax Prober Hits Elective Manager Move Made Here

Alden C. Fensel, senior staff member of the California Taxpayers' Association, placed himself on record Tuesday as opposed to an elective county executive.

Speaking before a San Mateo Junior College forum class in government, he said that an elective executive—the kind San Mateo county will have if and when amendments voted in June are ratified by the state legislature—"is little more than a mayor."

Fensel, who is now conducting a survey of the county's government, predicted that the study of the existing procedure would result in improvements that would so regulate the flow of work that the need for more employees would be obviated.

Fensel said that the chief results of the survey would be to place before the board of supervisors and County Executive Ernest A. Rolison recommendations that would result in simplified departmental procedure, a "general tightening up" of business methods, and greater economy in operation.

"This would all mean better service to the taxpayers," Fensel declared.

The research head of the taxpayers' association said that his study at present is being concentrated on the county purchasing department and the Community Hospital.

Fensel said he hoped that the association's recommendations could be adopted and improvements put in as each departmental survey was finished.

"In two or three weeks we hope to have definite recommendations completed for the purchasing agent's office and the Community Hospital," Fensel stated.

Returning to his criticism of the elective executive position, Fensel declared such an office is "clearly wrong."

"The basis of the county manager form of government is that your county executive must be selected for his qualifications, not his vote-getting ability."

Plan to Sell School to Go Before People

Proceeds Would Build New Structures For System

The Redwood City Elementary School Board took steps Monday to secure public approval of the sale of the Central Grammar School on Broadway at Middlefield road.

The trustees scheduled September 30 at 8 p. m. as the date for a public meeting at the school, where the plan for sale of the school property and use of the money will be laid before electors, and their authorization asked.

In previous discussion of the proposed sale of the property, which is bounded by Broadway, Middlefield road, Redwood Creek and Jefferson avenue, excluding only the site on which the public library stands, the trustees have estimated the sale would net approximately $85,000.

WOULD ASK BIDS

Once public authorization has been secured, the trustees would either advertise for bids for the property, or would wait for local real estate men to secure a purchaser, according to Andrew Spinas, city elementary school superintendent.

The proceeds of the sale would be used to build a school to replace Central School and also to relieve overcrowded conditions at McKinley school, where need for an addition to the present structure, or for construction of a new building has already been discussed.

The elementary district already owns one possible school site on Charter street, near Stambaugh and not far from the southerly limits of the city.

OTHER NEEDS

Garfield school, too, is overcrowded, and Lincoln school needs an auditorium, as additional uses for the sale proceeds, if sufficient, Spinas declared.

The superintendent estimated that only the new school and the McKinley overcrowding problem could be met by the sale of the Central school site.

Unless the buyer were willing to exclude from the deal the location on which the city police department now stands, the city would be faced with the problem of re-locating the police department.

'Buy Life,' Appeal Preventorium Heads

"Buy a little life cheaply and help it develop into strong manhood and womanhood."

That was the gist of an appeal by San Mateo Preventorium workers today as they canvassed the peninsula for new memberships or contributions in the organization's drive to raise $10,000 for care of children threatened with tuberculosis.

The drive leaders cited the 17 years of the organization's worthy work in saving hundreds of children, all local children because the organization is entirely local.

DeBrum, Teacher Here, Accorded Education Honor

In a nation-wide vote concluded Monday in Detroit, Mich., Joseph DeBrum, faculty member of the Sequoia Union High School, was elected unanimously national membership director of the department of business education of the National Educational Association of the United States. National leaders in business education throughout the United States voted in his election.

At the NEA convention in Detroit, June 27 to July 1, DeBrum was the unanimous choice of the members of the Department of Business Education for the office of first vice president for the year ending July 1, 1938.

The NEA Department of Business Education, membership 4000, is the largest association of business teachers in the world.

from the dreaded disease which so wrecks human life.

Capt. Edward Macaulay, chairman of the drive, is calling his first "report luncheon" Monday, at which time leaders of the drive will reveal results of the first week of their efforts.

New Band Gains Official Status, City Sponsorship

The city council took under its protective wing Tuesday night the newly fledged Redwood City municipal band.

On motion of Councilman James M. Eva and second of Councilman George W. McNulty, the city fathers voted to sponsor the band.

The sponsorship was accorded with the requirement that the band practice regularly and provide its services to the city when official occasions require.

The band's performance during the recent Harbor Opening Festival won high praise from the councilmen.

Councilman Eva was named a committee of one to see if the Sequoia high school band room could be secured for the municipal band to practice on Tuesday nights.

Eva, who is in charge of the city's recreation committee, said that Recreation Commissioner Alfred ("Red") Morton had assured R. Lee Otis, band director, that the organization would receive the full cooperation of the city recreation department.

Indication that some measure of financial support for the band might be forthcoming was seen in the attitude and remarks of the councilmen.

Football Schedule Offered By Stations

A unique football schedule which depicts the football stadium of the "City of Tomorrow," where traffic delays will be abolished and parking troubles forgotten, is being offered to motorists by Shell dealers everywhere.

Another interesting feature is the picture of the football stadium of the "City of Tomorrow" which is a part of the model city which Norman Bel Geddes built to show the trend of future building design.

The schedules are complete with listings of all major conference games. Last year's results are also included.

Preventorium Work Detailed

The San Mateo Preventorium, now entering the second week of a county-wide campaign to raise $10,000 to carry on its program, is dependent solely upon the generosity of peninsula residents.

If it is to carry on the work of nourishing back to health peninsula children who face tuberculosis, the preventorium must be given financial support, its leaders said today.

Preventorium leaders issued the following statement:

"The San Mateo Preventorium is entirely a San Mateo county institution, supported by funds obtained through public subscription. Its directors do not receive salaries.

"The preventorium is not a hospital. It is devoted to preventing tuberculosis among children from 5 to 13 years of age when those children come from families who could not possibly bear the financial burden if they had to pay for care for their children.

"The preventorium does not cure tuberculosis. It prevents tuberculosis and sickly children from peninsula families, sheltering them, schooling them, giving them daily medical care and offering them the opportunity they need to regain health.

"In its 17 years of the preventorium's existence, 400 children have been cared for by the preventorium.

This drive closes September 28. By that time the preventorium hopes to raise $10,000.

Capt. Edward Macaulay is chairman of the drive.

Itinerant Reports Robbery on Freight

An unidentified itinerant's story that he had been held up and robbed, then thrown out of a moving freight car in Redwood City was being investigated today by Redwood City police.

The man told Policeman Cole Stafford that his blankets, a jacket and $26 in cash had been taken early today by two armed assailants, with whom he had been traveling. Then they shoved him out of the car, he charged.

Police seemed skeptical of the tale, however.

SPECIAL ELECTION

Feasibility of setting the election for Tuesday, October 26, or Tuesday, November 2, was considered, with the council appearing to favor the latter date due to the fact that other elections are being held then also throughout the state and nation. The local election however, would be a special one.

As a result of action taken by unanimous vote of the council, Attorney Mansfield and the San Francisco firm of Orrick, Palmer & Dahlquist were authorized to prepare all preliminary proceedings so that they could be acted on next week.

At that time, it was explained, the council will pass a resolution certifying as to the necessity of an election. Then at the October 4 meeting an ordinance could be adopted calling the election, and it could be finally approved October 18.

Firm Loses 21-Day Trial

Twenty-one days of trial, 42 minutes of deliberation by a jury, and a $15,000 award for a steam shovel operator who was hurt while working on the Ocean Shore railroad right of way at Pedro Point last June.

This was the course of a San Francisco court hearing held before Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco. The verdict, returned Tuesday was in favor of James P. Hicks, who had estimated that the injuries he suffered when a landslide struck the steam shovel he was operating were worth $35,000, according to the amount asked in his suit.

The verdict of the 11 women and one man juror was unanimous.

Edward Harrison Takes Bank Post

Edward T. Harrison, former manager of the First National Bank and San Mateo County Bank at Redwood City and long a civic leader here, has taken a new bank post in Honolulu.

Harrison has been named as assistant secretary-manager of the new business department of the Bishop National Bank. He joined the bank staff about two weeks ago.

The former Redwood City banker left last year for a rest in the islands, following the tragic death in illness of his wife and son.

He frequently made trips to the islands.

Marco Polo's travels, once regarded as fanciful tales, have since been demonstrated as sound reporting.

Romance of Heiress, Boxer-Crooner 'Off'

The romance bubble of Mrs. Delphine Dodge Godde, blonde heiress to one of America's foremost automobile fortunes, and Jack Doyle, Irish boxer-crooner, has burst. The romance, which had a peninsula episode when the pair arrived by plane from Reno for a week-end engagement celebration in San Francisco, is off, all because "mother thinks it best," according to reports from Mrs. Godde at Reno, where she has taken up residence to divorce Timothy Godde, London banker and her third husband.

Hosmer to Erect New S. C. Building

Ground was broken in San Carlos Monday for a one-story reinforced concrete building to be erected by Merritt Hosmer, San Carlos business man, on San Carlos avenue between El Camino

Real and Laurel avenue. The building will be 32½ x 50 feet and will house Hosmer's office as well as a store.

It will be finished with a front of stained glass and tile in a modern style. The contract has been let to Daley Brothers of Burlingame.

Changes Urged In Ordinances

Several changes may be made in Redwood City's municipal law as the result of Tuesday night's council meeting.

Upon unanimous order of the council, the city attorney, Albert Mansfield, was instructed to draft additions or amendments to the city building ordinance and restaurant licensing law.

Under the proposed change in the building ordinance, anyone securing a permit to build off improved streets must specify in the building contract that provision will be made for sidewalks in front of the house, and on the side, too, if the house is on a corner lot.

The ordinance was suggested to the council by Charles D. Mish, 1144 Madison avenue.

CHARACTER DATA ASKED

It was on motion of Councilman James M. Eva and second of Councilman William Hohn that Mansfield was instructed to draft a new ordinance or an amendment to the present building law, which ever method was most efficient, to carry out Mish's proposal.

The other change, requiring applicants for licenses for restaurants where it is intended liquor will be served, to furnish data as to their character and past business performance, was suggested by Chief of Police C. L. Collins after the council had discussed means of controlling the type of persons selling liquor here.

Councilman Eva concurred with the chief that the best method of control is through the restaurant license, one of the requirements for a state board liquor sale permit.

MAY ONLY RECOMMEND

The restaurant license is given out by the city, Chief Collins pointed out. The city may only protest or recommend the granting of the state permit.

Under the ordinance that a successful motion of Eva brought instructions for Mansfield to draft future applicants for restaurant licenses who intend to sell liquor would have to prove their integrity.

Liquor license applications now pending before the state board of equalization include: "On sale" beer and wine, Marie L. Guernsey, 701 El Camino Real, and Fred F. Forman, 2025 Broadway; retail packing and "off sale" for beer and wine, Benedetto Demma, 913 Main street, and Sante Pellarin, 1700 El Camino Real; "on sale" distilled spirits, Forman, 2025 Broadway; retail packing and "off sale" distilled spirits and wine bottling or packing, Pellarin, 1700 El Camino Real.

Thanks Given For Port Fete

With the work of preparation and the actual festivities matters of the recent past, the time came Tuesday night for official thanks to persons whose energetic activities made the successful Harbor Opening Festival possible.

First to receive the voiced appreciation of the city fathers were Chief of Police C. L. Collins and Fire Chief Mark Ryan and their men.

Both officers will be notified by letter, although they were there to hear Councilman Evans A. Fletcher make the motion, Councilman George W. McNulty second it, and the council passed it, of the city's appreciation. Fletcher urged also that police and firemen be given time off to compensate for extra hours worked.

LETTERS SENT

The council also voted to send individual letters to members of the harbor festival committee. This was on motion of Eva, second of McNulty.

On motion of Fletcher again and second of McNulty, Maj. H. W. Edmonds and Floyd Granger will receive special thanks for their part in planning the festival parade.

Official thank-you letters will go also to the Pacific Greyhound bus company for providing celebrants with free transportation to and from the harbor; to Henry Witte, local Greyhound agent, and to Superintendent Krug of the Greyhound company, and his drivers, for their co-operation; to Elementary School Superintendent Andrew Spinas, for loan of school buses; to City Manager C. L. Dimmitt, for his tireless work; and to Port Manager Walter Murphy.

AFFAIR WINS PRAISE
Mayor Paul A. McCarthy reported that he has written expressing the city's appreciation to all the official out-of-town visitors who took part in the festival.

From the East Redwood City Improvement Club, by Thomas Tuile, president, came a letter commending the "ardent work of the police department," "the untiring energy of the fire department," and "the patient efforts of the city manager" in the festival that provided "an awe-inspiring sight."

Cotton, Judge Of Superior Court, to Wed

Marriage Will Unite Jurist With Sister Of Late Wife

That Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton will be married Saturday at 5 p.m. to Mrs. Sophie B. Lewis of San Mateo was revealed Monday by members of the family.

Mrs. Lewis, the widow of John M. Lewis, is the sister of Judge Cotton's late wife. The first Mrs. Cotton, the former Alice Borel, passed away September 24, 1936.

The marriage will take place at the home of Judge Cotton's sister, Mrs. Leonard L. Wood, 3 Presidio Terrace, San Francisco.

RELATIVES TO ATTEND
Only members of the two families will attend.

The bridegroom will be attended by his son, Aylett, as best man. Bridesmaids will be the bride's three sisters, Miss Chonita Borel, Miss Lupita Borel and Mrs. Louis A. Bove.

Judge Cotton, the first student to complete the entire course at Stanford, from which he was graduated in 1894, was elevated to the bench by appointment February 5, 1935, upon the death of Judge Franklin Swart. He was re-elected last year. Before becoming a superior judge, he practiced law in San Francisco; served for a time in Manila as clerk for the late William Howard Taft, former president and former chief justice of the United States Supreme Court; became prosecuting attorney of Manila, then returned to San Francisco, becoming chief assistant district attorney there in 1910.

FINE COASTSIDE EXHIBITS

Fiesta to See Upper Section of Clubhouse Reserved for Farm Displays

From the picturesque coastside, which was once known as "Old Spanishtown" and out of the Colma districts were echoed assurances today that agriculture will play an important part in the displays at San Mateo county's third annual products and floral fiesta, which opens at Bay Meadows Thursday for a four-day run.

This year's agricultural displays will occupy the entire upper section of the big Bay Meadows building and because of their attractiveness should attract throngs of fiesta patrons.

From Joseph H. Cunha, of Half Moon Bay, member of the fiesta commission, came this statement: "The growers in San Mateo county have worked hard this year in combining their efforts to make their end of the big fiesta a success. Our exhibits this year will occupy the entire upper section of the stadium at Bay Meadows instead of only the third of space we occupied last year."

"We can promise that these displays, besides being attractive in arrangement, will be instructive even to those persons in our community who should, but don't, know that agriculture is so important an industry in this county."

"Our produce is known the nation over. Agriculture is San Mateo county's very life's blood."

Max Leonard, agricultural commissioner, concurred with Cunha in stressing the importance of the agricultural displays at the big show.

Meanwhile the fiesta management issued a call to all amateur gardeners who contemplate putting entries in the flower end of the show to "step on it" because the deadline for entries is near at hand.

Success of the fiesta prelude, the fandango which was staged Saturday night at San Mateo, made fiesta leaders optimistic.

NON-DELIVERY OF TELEGRAM BASIS OF $16,300 DAMAGE ACTION HERE

A death message that never arrived was made the basis here today of a $16,300 damage suit.

Atty. Bernard P. Sharon and his sisters, Mrs. Mary A. McGourty and Anna M. Sharon, all of 408 A street, San Mateo, asked these damages of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

They charged that a telegram judge, he was mayor of San Mateo.

Both Judge Cotton and Mrs. Lewis are members of pioneer families. His father crossed the plains from the Middle West in 1849, although he later returned to Iowa for a time. Mrs. Lewis is a member of the famed Borel family, after whom Borel avenue, on which Judge Cotton has his home, was named.

McInnis Dies From Injuries

Victim of a 20-foot fall from a wharf at Miramar, on the coastside just north of Half Moon Bay, William Carr McInnis, Palo Alto high school teacher for the past 14 years, was buried in rites from the Roller & Hapgood parlors, Palo Alto, at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

McInnis, a widower for two years, had gone to the coastside resort Saturday to fish.

Witnesses said he apparently hooked a blue cod while fishing from the wharf. He put one foot over the edge onto a plank in order better to land the fish, but the light board gave way, and he plunged to the sand in the shallow water below.

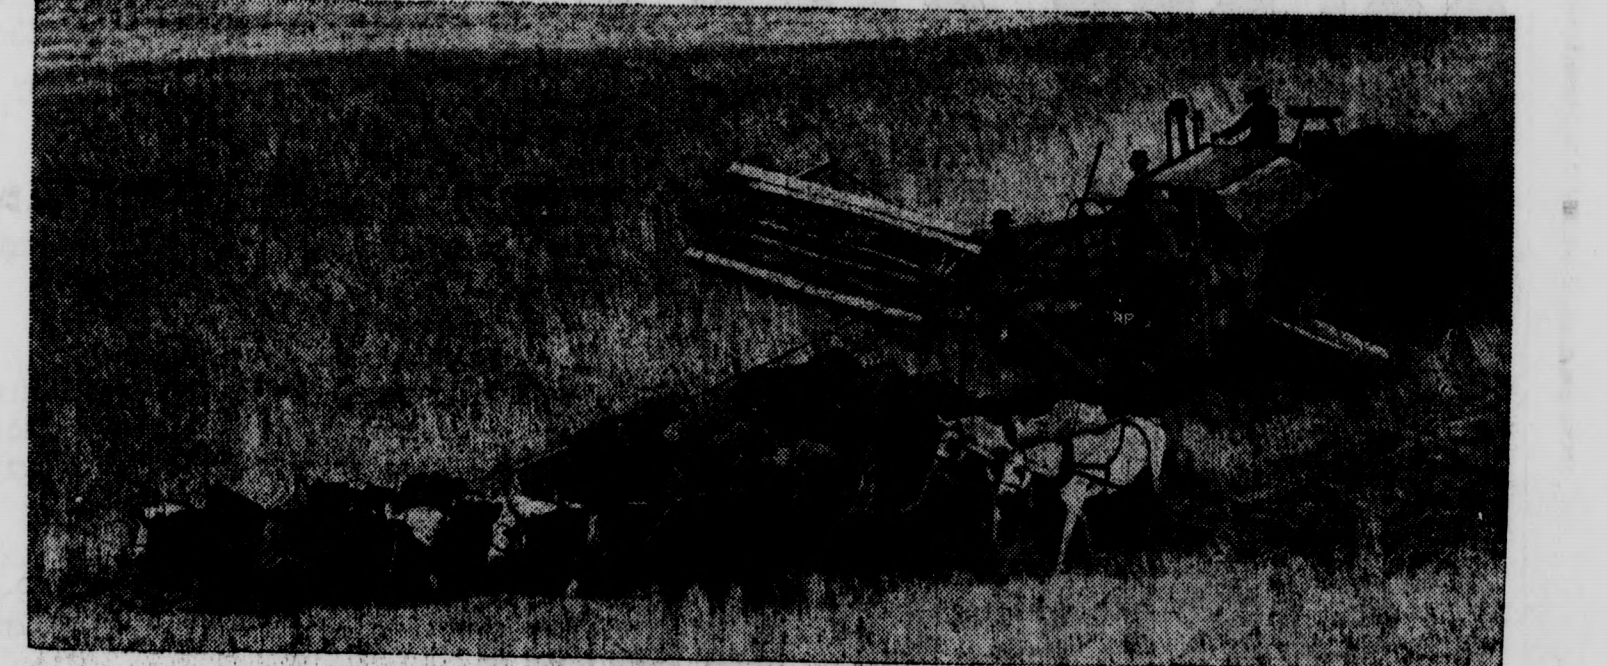

He was rescued by E. Conturon, 260 Lausset street, San Francisco, and H. Kirchbauer, 409 Howard avenue, Burlingame, who were fishing from the opposite side of the wharf.

At first believed not critically injured, although seriously hurt, McInnis was given treatment by a coastside physician, then rushed to Mills Memorial Hospital. Suffering from a possibly broken hip, compound fracture of the left wrist, and internal injuries, he passed away at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

McInnis, who lived with Peter McInnis, an uncle, at 613 Stanford avenue, Palo Alto, was a teacher of social sciences. At one time he was principal of the Palo Alto night school. He belonged to the Masonic fraternity. His father, James T. McInnis, survives in San Francisco.

OAKLAND, Sept. 23 (AP)—Lou Nova, California heavyweight champion, won a 10-round decision over Johnny Erjavec, of Duluth, Minn., here last night. Nova weighed 196 pounds, Erjavec, 187, any form at that point.

STATEMENT CAUSES RENEWAL OF RIFT AMONG COUNCILMEN

Eva, Christensen, Fletcher Take Exception To Policy of Four Others

All went smoothly at city council meeting Monday night until Mayor Paul A. McCarthy proposed that a statement be drafted earlier be issued by the council.

"It's too long," declared Councilman Hohn upon the completion of the reading of the statement.

"I won't sign it," was Councilman Eva's terse reaction. "I wouldn't either," added Councilman Christensen.

Eva came back with a further explanation.

"There are certain statements in it that I don't agree with."

"You're opposed to public ownership anyway," Mayor McCarthy charged, addressing Eva.

ADMITTS OPPOSITION

"That's correct," promptly admitted Eva.

"Well, I think I'm going to join with Councilmen Eva and Christensen. I am opposed to a general bond issue," then declared Councilman Fletcher.

After Mayor McCarthy had pointed out that every other city which had entered the public utility business had voted general obligation bonds, Councilman Jones moved that the statement be endorsed by the council and published. On second of Councilman McNulty, the motion carried 4-3. Councilman Hohn a greeting despite length of the statement and Mayor McCarthy voting to approve it. Eva, Christensen and Fletcher voted "no" in accord with their views expressed many times previously on the utility question.

HERE'S STATEMENT

Here is the statement as passed by the split vote.

The city has now obtained from the Railroad Commission a valuation of approximately $488,000 for the electric distribution system of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company within Redwood City. This value was fixed as of February 9, 1935, the date of the filing of the city's application with the commission for an appraisal. The council has determined that a bond issue of $575,000 will be appropriate; this will include not only the fair value of the property on the date stated, but will allow a reasonable additional sum for capital improvements in the system since February, 1935, and a sum appropriate to cover the cost of such installation as will be necessary when the city becomes a distributor; it will also allow for the purchase of material, supplies and automotive equipment reasonably necessary for maintenance by the city when it takes the system over; it will also supply some cash for the operation during the first month or two of operation.

NO TAX LEVY SEEN

While the proposed bond issue is submitted as a general obligation bond, the cost of servicing the bond issue, that is, paying the annual installments of interest and retirement of bonds, will be met exclusively from the income of the electric distribution system without any necessity or even any possibility of a levy of taxes for such purpose. This has been the practice of the city with respect to the bonds issued for the water system from the time of the city's entering the water business.

General obligation bonds of Redwood City have recently been sold at par with an annual interest rate of 2 1/2 per cent; it is reasonably certain that this issue can be sold at par for 3 per cent interest or even less.

$75,000 PROFIT SEEN

The annual income of the electric distribution system is in excess of $180,000. After paying for current which will be bought wholesale from Pacific Gas and Electric Company, the cost of operation and maintenance, the interest and principal on the bond issue and setting aside reserves for depreciation there will be a profit in excess of $75,000, which is more than 13 per cent on the investment of $575,000. Since the bond issue will cost not exceeding 3 per cent it is evident that this is a good business proposition. With the natural growth of this community and the incidental increase in the use of electricity the profits of the system will materially increase during the next decade.

NEW REVENUE SOURCE

The council feels a justification in urging the approval of this bond issue by the public in the necessity of finding a new source of revenue to provide those things which make a city attractive to the better type of residents.

In Palo Alto, Pasadena, Glendale and many other cities in California which own their electric distribution system, the profits have been used to build operate and maintain such desirable improvements as recreation facilities, community centers, community playhouses, auditoriums, veterans' centers, better libraries and even city halls. These desirable assets cannot be provided through tax levies without imposing undue burdens upon residential property owners, particularly where a city has only a partially developed manufacturing and wholesale business section.

WATER SYSTEM SUCCESS

The building up of the water system to its present value of $701,000 (on a depreciated basis for the part of the system that is subject to depreciation) from an original investment of public funds of not exceeding $115,000 is a demonstration of the ability of the city to conduct a public utility business successfully. This is emphasized when it is remembered that during all of this period water was sold at rates 10 per cent to 20 per cent below those charged by corporations supplying other nearby cities.

An electric distribution system, like a water system, is a natural monopoly, dependent in its very nature upon the use of the city's streets for the building of its lines of poles and wires and its underground conduits to conduct current to consumers within the city. The city is conservative in its public ownership program in undertaking merely the retail distribution of electric current, leaving the state-wide system of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's generation and main transmission system to private ownership. The city does not intend to engage in the generation of power, but will depend upon the privately owned company for its source of power.

The value of the distribution system has been determined by the Railroad Commission of California after a most thorough hearing and taking evidence from the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and its engineers and from Redwood City and its engineer, C. L. Dimmitt, aided by the technical services of Carl Heinze, an electrical engineer of many years' experience with the Bureau of Light and Power of the City of Los Angeles.

Ambulance Defeats Stork in Night Race

Redwood City's police are modest men, equipped to handle all eventualities, but they found themselves faced with a problem early Monday morning that taxed their training.

For although capable of holding more than their own in scrapes with law-breakers, the police, at least Officers James Flynn and Cole Stafford, have had a minimum of experience as midwives. But when the stork fluttered its wings unexpectedly soon over Mrs. Reuben Reuting of East Palo Alto, who was visiting here, the officers met the situation efficiently. They hustled Mrs. Reuting to the local firehouse, kept her warm in blankets until Layng & Tinney's ambulance arrived.

And then with Officer Stafford ministering to the woman, she was rushed to Community Hospital.

By a meager 15 minutes, the ambulance defeated the stork in the wild race.

Itself for public lighting of streets and power for the water system, the citizens should organize to insure getting the two-thirds vote which is necessary to pass this bond issue. Experience of other communities shows that the private utility will be extremely resourceful in opposing the city's raising of this property even at the fair value fixed by the railroad commission. Care must be taken to see that every voter gets the facts; this can be done only by a wide-spread organization of voters who will get the facts and see that their neighbors get them.

May we count on the initiative and willingness of the citizens to carry on?

CLEAR ICE CUBES IN FIVE MINUTES

After the football game, this young couple finds it handy to have an air-conditioned ice refrigerator. For fruit punches or other refreshing drinks in the crisp, fall evenings after the big games, a plentiful supply of ice cubes is essential. . . and, with an air-conditioned ice refrigerator, all the ice cubes you can use can be had within five minutes. An ice cubing device, easy to use, makes an abundant supply, and because the ice you buy is made from filtered, purified drinking water, these cubes are crystal-clear and entirely without odor or impurity.

will be the stake.

The suit, filed for Ethel A. Kelum, domestic, by the local law firm of O'Keefe & O'Keefe, blames Theodore A. Stebbin and his wife, Mary Emma Flood Stebbin, daughter of the late Bonanza King, for injuries she suffered when her arm was drawn into the roller of a washing machine. Her arm was sprained and lacerated.
